prescribing vitamins as potent therapeutic agents?

Vitamins of the B complex and C in doses far exceeding those generally recommended as supplements have actions apparently unrelated to their normal physiological role. Confusional states due to alcohol, drugs, stress and "senility"; diabetic neuropathy; drug addiction and withdrawal syndromes and some forms of depression, often respond dramatically to Parentrovite - an injectable preparation - or Orovit - an oral preparation. These preparations are only two of the many vitamin specialities produced by Vitamins Limited. The Company has been conducting research into, and development of, vitamins for more than 40 years and is now the acknowledged leader in this field. As a result, Vitamins Limited offer an unrivalled range of preparations covering a wide variety of indications.

THERAPY OF EPILEPSY

EMESIDE

"Ethosuximide is the best drug in this series (succinimides) and probably represents a real advance in the development of anticonvulsant drugs. It has been shown to be extremely effective in the treatment of petit mal."

E. & S. LIVINGSTONE, LTD., TEVIOT PLACE, EDINBURGH
'... a 37-year-old man, had been hospitalized for 11 years for the treatment of a catatonic schizophrenic reaction.—Before treatment with...["Stelazine"], he would not talk to anyone, was very untidy, and made queer noises like wind through an elevator shaft. He stood throughout the day with his hands over his eyes.'

'Ten days after starting therapy [with "Stelazine"] the patient stopped holding his hands over his face and no longer made queer noises. He began to do a little work around the wards and for the first time in years began to talk freely although irrationally.'

'By the end of the study, he had begun making beds and he walked around freely.'

TO-DAY’S DRUGS

A book under this title will be published in December 1964. It is based on a series of review articles which were printed in the “To-day’s Drugs” section of the BRITISH MEDICAL JOURNAL between January 1963 and May 1964. These articles have been edited and brought completely up to date so as to form an authoritative and practical guide to modern therapeutics. The book is designed to cover the drug treatment of those common conditions which are met with in general and hospital practice. There are important sections dealing with antibiotic therapy, cardiovascular conditions, rheumatic disorders, oral contraceptives, and the special problems involved in paediatric and geriatric prescribing. Special attention has been paid to the precautions which should be taken in using these drugs and their toxic and side-effects. This book should be of value to all doctors concerned in the day-to-day treatment of patients.

ST. ANDREW’S HOSPITAL
NORTHAMPTON

Tel. No. 34354 Northampton

This private hospital operates outside the National Health Service and offers complete facilities for the care and treatment of nervous and mental disorders, including alcoholism and senile illnesses. Accommodation includes many private rooms either in the hospital or in one of the villas in the grounds. There is a separate reception unit for those suffering from recent and acute forms of illness. A modern Recreation Centre was opened in 1962 which comprises a library and reading room, an occupational therapy department, a swimming pool and a squash court.

The hospital is situated in the Borough of Northampton in pleasantly secluded grounds. It is within a few miles of the M1, with London and Birmingham approximately 1½ hours journey by road.

For further particulars, application should be made to the Medical Superintendent who may be seen at the hospital or at 55 Harley Street, London, W.1, by appointment.
