Clinical and surgical aspects of posterior fossa haemangioblastomata RICHARD JEFFREYS page 105

Pathological and haematological aspects of posterior fossa haemangioblastomata RICHARD JEFFREYS page 112

Abnormal brain scans in multiple sclerosis STANLEY L. COHAN, JOSEPH FERMAGLICH, and THOMAS L. AUTH page 120

Monoamine acid metabolites and cerebrospinal fluid dynamics in normal pressure hydrocephalus: preliminary results G. MAIRA, S. R. BAREGGI, C. DI ROCCO, G. CALDERINI, and P. L. MORSELLI page 123

Plasma concentrations of L-dopa and 3-methoxy-L-dopa and improvement in clinical ratings and motor performance in patients with Parkinsonism treated with L-dopa alone or in combination with amantadine J. B. PILLING, JANET BAKER, L. L. IVERSEN, S. D. IVERSEN, and T. ROBBINS page 129

Malignant meningioma metastasizing through the cerebrospinal pathways S. K. LUDWIN and F. K. CONLEY page 143

Mechanism of production of gait unsteadiness by tumours in the posterior fossa R. S. MAURICE-WILLIAMS page 143

Clinical course and prognosis of acute post-traumatic coma P. PAZZAGLIA, G. FRANK, F. FRANK, and G. GAIST page 149

Studies on the receptor responsible for vibration induced inhibition of monosynaptic reflexes in man F. DINDAR and M. VERRIER page 155

Evidence for a monosynaptic mechanism in the tonic vibration reflex of the human masseter muscle E. GODAUX and JOHN E. DESMEDT page 161

Peripheral neuropathy detected on electrophysiological study as first manifestation of metachromatic leucodystrophy in infancy A. CRUZ MARTINEZ, M. T. FERRER, E. FUEYO, and L. GALDOS page 169

Peripheral nerve involvement in Batten-Spielmeyer-Vogt's disease BIRGIT BLATLYON page 175

Babinski response: stimulus and efferent J. VAN GIJN page 180

Respiratory and cardiac abnormalities in brain-stem ischaemia AMOS D. KORCZYN page 187

Treatment with acetazolamide of brain-stem and spinal paroxysmal disturbances in multiple sclerosis V. VOICULESCU, BEATRICE PRUSKAUER-APPOSTL, and C. ALEC page 191

Intracranial tuberculoma—an increasing problem in Britain J. M. ANDERSON and J. J. MACMILLAN page 194

Book reviews page 202

JOURNAL OF NEUROLOGY
NEUROSURGERY
AND PSYCHIATRY