Brain function in epilepsy: midbrain, medullary, and cerebellar interaction with the rostral forebrain. R. G. Heath page 1037

Epilepsy after two different neurosurgical approaches to the treatment of ruptured intracranial aneurysm. R. J. Cabral, T. T. King, and D. F. Scott page 1052

Space representation in unilateral spatial neglect. F. Chedru page 1057

Serum globulin changes in patients with cranio-cerebral trauma. L. Auer and W. Petek page 1076

Lactate dehydrogenase and aspartate transaminase of the cerebrospinal fluid in patients with brain tumours, congenital hydrocephalus, and brain abscess. S. R. Dharker, R. S. Dharker, and B. D. Churasia page 1081

Neuromyotonia: an unusual presentation of intrathoracic malignancy. J. C. Walsh page 1086

Dysautonomia in Parkinsonism: a clinico-pathological study. A. H. Rajput and B. Rozdilsky page 1092

Sclerosing spinal pachymeningitis. C. H. Sadowsky, F. M. Vincent, R. E. Nordgren, and G. Margolis page 1124

Occurrence of familial spastic paraplegia in only one of monozygous twins. I. Bone, R. H. Johnson, and M. A. Ferguson-Smith page 1129

Short report: Arterial spasm and recovery from subarachnoid haemorrhage. J. T. E. Richardson page 1134

Book reviews page 1137

Letters page 1143